

Fragrance info Short description

The fragrance classification of De Hekserij, like any attempt on this point, is subjective. It is a tool, not an attempt to do science. There are various substances that could be classified in different ways, we are only making a proposal. A proposal to make it easier for you to find suitable fragrance materials. Want to mimic the scent of strawberry? Then first take a look at sub-subgroup 222, or possibly a little more broadly in subgroup 22. That gives the user of this classification a bit of guidance. It also works the other way around: if the fragrance is classified as 541, it is a sweet leathery scent.

DE HEKSERIJ

The classification works as follows: each fragrance is classified into a group. This group is given a number consisting of three digits. The first digit indicates the main group, the second digit the subgroup and the third digit the subsubgroup. This last digit can be 0, then there is no sub-subgroup for this fragrance. Similar odorants can have the same group number.

In the webshop (and in the future perhaps also in other places) we display this number with icons, these also refer to the groups and thus give you a first impression.
